Dear Mr. White I recd your kind letter giving your reasons for not accepting your own invitation to speak address the audience at the hall the other eve
The pressure of a thousand little affairs at this moment prevents the full & fit answer that I would gladly make to all the questions & it relates to [illegible] toleration differences of [illegible], by A. S. Neill & individual judgement, [illegible] [illegible] expression of that judgement. It would be pleasant, & I doubt not profitable to dwell on these

MS. A.9.2.22, 145

aid time permit, I
I trust Shortnotes will not be wanting hereafter, either in commentation or annotation, for the fullest & speediest consideration of them.

But the reasons
of our not adverting in the Chronotype, (on what you deem to speak Emmo Journally) to not are entirely independent of any of these considerations.

Mr Wright's conduct pursonal character & Course, as only developed by his

a 154

intolerance to Mr Garrison, his prosperous of embezzlement of the Emancipator, & his long continued cloth in this Country calumny of the most slanderous character against the Cause, while claiming the name of an Abolitionist, [illegible] is such, as one shrunk from the possibility of being identified with [illegible] would have in any mind.
of a disadvantage in this respect under these circumstances, would be to forfeit a valuable opportunity of preventing from an imputation which we feel would be disagreeable to us, & of which there would be no danger, should we make no such distinction.

155

Connecticut Nov.
your subject (Anti-Slavery to obtain in our mind

MS. A. 1. 2. 22, 145

THIRTEENTH NATIONAL ANTI-SLAVERY BAZAAR,

FANEUIL HALL,

Will open on TUESDAY, Dec. 22d, at 10 o'clock in the morning. A very great proportion of this unusually large collection of beautiful articles from all parts of the world, are such as cannot be elsewhere procured on this side of the Atlantic, and may properly be classed as works of genius and art.

The collection of drawings from the Misses Carpenter and Lady Byron, to which distinguished artists of the English school of water-colors have contributed, is an admirable one, consisting of views of memorable places, English lake scenery, English castles, original pencil sketches, of great merit.

Among the many curious and rare contributions may be mentioned the first edition of Milton's Poems—(1643)—before any of his great poems were written. Justinian's Institutes, with Peter Schaffer's Commentaries. A medallion of Henry Grattan, by Mossop, the eminent Irish medallist, extremely rare and valuable—indeed, not to be obtained but in this single instance. A few very scarce autographs. Paper folders of Burns's Mossgiel thorn. Silver mounted jewel-boxes, of the oak of the old tower of Carlisle castle, where Mary of Scotland was imprisoned in 1568. Specimens of most beautiful styles of ladies' work, from France; novelties, even in Paris. Ivory-enamelled, silver-studded jewel cases and envelope boxes. Most beautiful specimens of Tunbridge ware and papier maché. Honiton lace, Scotch agates, clan Tartan shawls, Thibet cloth silk braided dresses, of colors, quality and designs of unequalled perfection. Knitted scarfs and shawls of a peculiar kind, nowhere else to be found, in immense variety. De La Rue's and Parisian writing materials, ordered expressly from the manufacturers, of kinds never imported by the trade. Magnificent tapestries, of great value and new subjects. A few fine bronzes. Books of botanically arranged plants. British sea-weeds bound in mammoth shells. Pressed flowers and sea-weeds, exquisitely arranged in alto relievo. Ornithological and botanical cuttings of astonishing fidelity and beauty. Book of ferns from Castle Howard woods. Fayal baskets. Beautiful transparencies and lamp shades. Chinese kites. Etched doylies. London dolls, charmingly dressed. Lap-dogs as large as life, and a beautiful lot of toys, with illuminated story books for children. The most elegantly finished silk and other aprons imaginable. Complete boudoir suit of silk patch-work.

THE LIBERTY BELL, composed of articles from John Quincy Adams, Wendell Phillips, Stephen C. Phillips, Edmund Quincy, Mrs. Follen, Mrs. Hall, Dr. Bowring, Dr. Davy, James Russell Lowell, Mrs. Lowell, and others, will be found at the book table, with the paintings and curiosities on the right of the rostrum.

The toy table is in the centre of the hall, the charity table on the right of the entrance, and the refreshment table on the left. The Bazaar will continue open. Notice of its closing appears in the newspapers; but those who wish to secure a sight of the whole exhibition should call early in the season.

MARY WESTON CHAPMAN,
ELIZA LEE FOLLEN,
SUSAN C. CABOT,
FRANCES MARY ROBERTS,
HELEN E GARRISON,
SARAH B. SHAW,

LOUISA LORING,
ANN T. GREENE PHILLIPS,
HENRIETTA SARGENT,
MARY MAY,
ELIZA MERRIAM,
SARAH S. RUSSELL.